
Ask Corey??

Posted by Corey - 2008/07/27 23:00

Thanks to everyone that has spent time on this site. If you have any questions, please feel free to leave me some questions at the Ask Corey Section. I hope everyone has a great week.

Corey

=====

Re:Ask Corey??

Posted by tnpatti - 2008/08/02 23:17

I bought the Sports Illustrated with your picture (for my children and grandchildren). I would like to get them autographed but have no idea how to do it. I intended to go try at your camp here in Portland, but I had to be out of town that week. Is there some way I could get them autographed. Although my husband and I have only met you at your town reception, we have followed your career since high school. Your senior year, we cheered for you at Auburn - even though my son-in-law teaches there! We're all proud of your accomplishments and the fact that you're a role model to our young people. If you are even in Portland, come by Portland Learning Center. The kids would love to meet you. Thanks,

Patti Gibson

Portland, TN

=====

Re:Ask Corey??

Posted by Lebowski56 - 2008/08/06 04:34

Hey Corey,I was shopping at the Adidas store in Vegas on Monday and ran into you. Thanks for being so cool(wish I had my Sports Illustrated with me,DANG!).I run into alot of celebs here in Dallas and you are a real class act compared to most of these guys. Good luck next year, Ill be taking a closer look at your career from now on.

=====

Re:Ask Corey??

Posted by wolvesfan66 - 2008/08/18 12:55

corey brewer how do you think this team is going to do this year and how has your game progressed ? To me i think you have all the skill in the world i want to see the Corey Brewer from the gators! where is the hart the guts the love the of the game gone ?From a brewer fan

=====